

Starlight Message from Gloria Star

Sun Cycle in Gemini 2018 Grace Under Pressure

Even if some may have managed to miss the shifting energetic power of disruptive Uranus arriving in Taurus territory on May 15th, planet Earth has not been shy about expressing herself. At least when it comes to her discontent! From violent storms across the planet, to the volcanic eruption of Hawaii's Mount Kilauea, there's an unsettled quality permeating the cosmos. Events occurring near the ingress of a long-term cycle, like Uranus changing signs, often provide signals that mark the quality of the challenges and opportunities of these cycles. You might recall that the events of Fukushima occurred the day Uranus entered Aries -- the cycle just now being vacated. (The reactor at Fukushima was disastrously breached secondary to the Tohoku earthquake.) During Uranus in Aries, we've run headlong into the impact of impulsive words and actions -- lessons still in process, of course. The essence of Uranus moving through Taurus takes us into a need to revolutionize our value systems ... collectively and personally. Are you ready to audit what you value, and why? No time like the present to get started!

Perhaps the cycle of the Sun's light shining through Gemini will offer up some mental clarity. The Sun moves into Gemini May 20th (10:15 PM EDT). This 31-day period offers potentials for exercising greater flexibility and versatility, and can open channels of communication that provide healthy outlets for curiosity. Tied closely with the energy of Mercury, the Sun's cycle through Gemini emphasizes the multiple faces of mercurial expression. Communication is one major factor. This is the time to explore options, talk about things that interest and concern you, and form networks that allow you to be more expressive. In the world around us, the importance of communication cannot be overstated. Sun in Gemini is a time for questions ... and answers.

Another cycle in place permeating the Collective Consciousness features expansive Jupiter's energy connecting with imaginative Neptune. These two planets travel in close harmony with one another until early June, reaching a peak on May 25th. Also, from May 28th - June 2nd, Venus will move into a easygoing contact with both Jupiter and Neptune, drawing all three energies into a flowing dance. In astrology, that pattern is called a Grand Trine. This period can, indeed, be a time of Grace. It's an indication that "going with the flow" can be precisely the action to take. Finding common needs or qualities may be easier now.

Additionally, given that the Full Moon in Sagittarius peaks on May 29th (10:19 AM EDT), this could be a powerfully creative and cooperative period. Break away! Leave the everyday routine, and do something that sparks your enthusiasm and hopefulness. And it's a marvelous time to let your generosity shine through. Great for a vacation, or at the least an amazing movie, concert or festival.

The potential down side to such cycles rests in the vulnerability of those whose willpower might be easily manipulated by others with potentially nefarious motives. After all, these same energies could be funneled into deceitful, dishonest, or felonious actions. This could be particularly problematic for those who may have suffered a loss or setback, and may look to the wrong person or situation for support. Research and vetting are critical.

The Jupiter-Neptune Trine cycle will return again in mid-August. That could be a good target to revisit projects or situations that have your time and attention now, or to complete a contract or project.

Because value-oriented Venus stands in opposition to reality-driven Saturn from May 24th-27th, there's ample stimulus to ask important questions about the true worth of what may be offered. Oh, yes ... it's definitely "buyer beware." More vulnerability shows itself June 5th - 8th in the form of potential undermining and deceit. Beginning with an uncomfortable undercurrent from Venus being undermined by Pluto, which can bring old issues to the surface that could fatally wound a weak relationship, take care when approaching sensitive matters (and be aware of your own vulnerabilities). This can manifest on the economic front should an indicator or an unknown factor weaken an investment or threaten a deal in the making.

Also, keep in mind that Mercury is caught up in the fog of Neptune during these few days, bringing a lack of clarity and the possibility of being misled -- whether accidentally or intentionally. Finally, the Sun is also caught up in the cloudy quality of Neptune, marking a time when others may not be what they seem. These dynamics can be particularly problematic when translated to the world stage, and everyone needs to question what simply does not seem real or probable. Those prone to altering the truth may gain extra impulse to do just that during this period. Leaders may, simply, mislead now. And we can all benefit from exploring our motives and intentions.

New ideas or a novel approach to ongoing issues can lead to progress on June 12th-13th, while Mercury is tickled by breakthrough Uranus. Progress may seem to stall initially, but fresh energy arrives with the Gemini New Moon on June 13th (3:43 PM EDT). However, there's friction in the atmosphere arising from tension between Mercury and Chiron peaking June 13th, suggesting that extra care with words will be required to avoid clumsy, or potentially wounding, communication. It can be a bumpy ride!

Quick-moving cycles bring unsettled economic markets June 14th-15th, although there's a shift in perspective June 19th-20th, when Mercury (transiting in Cancer) joins the higher harmonies resulting from the Jupiter-Neptune trine. Suggesting a more peaceful quality of connection, this could be a period of forgiveness and healing -- if those intentions are activated. In other words, it depends upon what's really in your heart.

I'm adding a little extra bonus in this Starlight Message. Hope you find it helpful!

Special Feature: Uranus in Taurus and Your Sun's Sign

Since we're beginning a seven-year cycle of Uranus in Taurus, many of you have inquired about how it's likely to impact your life. Your Sun's zodiac sign is a good place to explore some of the basic ways this cycle might likely impact your life. As you know, your personal astrological chart is a complex picture of the cosmic patterns in place at the moment of your birth, including factors like your Sun, Moon, all the planets ... and more. But we can certainly look into a few basic ideas that might help you navigate this period. Read your Sun Sign, and, if you know it, read your Rising Sign, too. And, if you desire more comprehensive information, we can schedule time to explore the details.

Aries: Your approach to your finances undergoes revolutionary change, starting with your own sense of self-worth. It's a time to let your personal values reflect what truly matters, and what does not.

Taurus: With Uranus transiting through your zodiac sign, this changeable cycle is very personal. Your real self shines through, and you may be more open to experimenting in many areas of your life, especially within the realm of personal expression, creativity, and matters of the heart.

Gemini: Reach into the deeper recesses of your consciousness and let your imagination be more freely expressed. This can be a powerful time of spiritual awakening and self-realization, and marks a period when your words and ideas can, literally, change the world.

Cancer: You're discovering that what makes you different may actually be the key to finding others whose uniqueness harmonizes with your own. Those causes you feel in your heart can flourish with some positive attention. You're cultivating real friends along your life journey now.

Leo: There are jobs, and then there are "callings." This period invites you to listen to your heart and open to your true vocation. Your powerful light is ready to shine and lead the way!

Virgo: Your eagerness to follow your true quest is palpable now. The adventure of life calls, and you're ready to answer. It's all about discovery, and a very real expansion of consciousness and opportunity. Speak out and let your voice be heard!

Libra: Time to dig deep and uncover what honestly motivates you. From there, establishing trust with yourself and others can, literally, transform your relationships. The keys to abundance open your life to very real giving, receiving and sharing.

Scorpio: It may seem that your life is becoming more and more like a mirror, reflecting in such a way that you cannot escape finding the essence of love and its most significant forms of expression. Your powers of attraction are strong now, as is your need to attract what will finally really works for you. Honesty with yourself is crucial.

Sagittarius: Wellness takes center stage. Novel approaches to becoming physically strong and healthy could be beneficial. Harmony between your lifestyle and your work can be the major breakthrough that changes your life.

Capricorn: Your heart is ready to take the risk and allow love to flourish. That may mean letting go of the controls and simply enjoying the ride that Love provides. Essentially, it's a win-win. Give it a try.

Aquarius: Time to make the move that resonates with your honest sense of home. Your personal space needs to reflect your way of thinking. Family connections may be changing, too.

Pisces: How many times have you really explored your neighborhood? Uranus exposes what you might not have seen, inviting you to get to know your surroundings, and to also venture into the beyond from time to time. Your social network might actually extend beyond your devices!
